TWO CENTS

FINANCE COMMITTEE MAKES FINAL APPEAL FOR $1 CONTRIBUTIONS

People Asked To Donate Their Share Toward Expense Fund

AT BANKS AND DRUG STORES

W. H. Milliken, acting chairman of the finance committee, makes a final appeal to the citizens of Charleroi to remember the boxes placed at the three banks and the drug stores, wherein the citizens of the borough have been requested to drop at least one dollar.

The time for making these contributions is almost over, in fact citizens must make these contributions before the close of business on Wednesday, or it will be too late.

The finance committee has been depending upon these boxes to furnish a goodly portion of the finances with which to pay the expenses of the celebration, but so far the returns have been somewhat disappointing. This method was adopted because it was deemed impossible to see all of the people of the borough in the limited time and solicit them to make a contribution. In establishing these boxes at the banks and drug stores Chairman Milliken had in mind the fact that one dollar would give every citizen a chance to contribute, realizing that the expense of the celebration should not fall upon the business men and merchants alone, for this was to be a welcome extended by the entire community to returned soldiers. This is a celebration in which each and every citizen in the borough is interested, and for this reason Chairman Milliken appeals for a greater response from the people generally to contribute at least a dollar each. Chairman Milliken wants to have sufficient funds on hand to pay all expenses of the celebration, but in order to do so it will be necessary for the people to come forward in a more generous manner with dollar contributions.

DeLloyd Thompson, the aviator, is expected to be in Charleroi today to look over the ground and prepare for his flights on Thursday.

Burgess Proclamation.

Whereas, Thursday, August 21 has been set aside as a day to extend a welcome to our returned soldiers and Whereas, it is the wish of the Board of Trade, the Borough Council, and the general committee in charge of the celebration that all places of business as far as possible be closed on that day,

Now, therefore, I, S. L. Woodward, Burgess of Charleroi, do request that all places of business with the exception of restaurants, confectionaries and drug stores be closed on the said 21st day of August and remain closed all day, that the merchants, business men and employees may have an opportunity of joining with their fellow citizens in this celebration.

LOCAL STORE HONORS MEMORY OF R. HALF

The Woodward Furniture on McKean avenue closed at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the remainder of the day, out of respect to the memory of Rudolph Half, of East End, Pittsburgh, a member of the corporation. Mr. Half, who is extensively engaged in the furniture business, died suddenly on Sunday last, and funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from his late home, 211 South Pacific Avenue, East End, Pittsburgh.

SHOOTING SCRAPE MAY PROVE SERIOUS

Isaac Herrington, aged about 40, employed as a fireman and extra engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad, was shot in the back by his wife, Amanda Ross Herrington at their home on Woodlawn Avenue, West Brownsville, about 9:30 Friday evening.

He walked to the Engle hotel half a block away and from there was taken to the Brownsville General hospital. The bullet is believed to have penetrated the left lung.

The Brownsville Telegraph speaking of the shooting, says: The shooting followed a drinking bout at the Herrington home. The husband arrived home about 9. A young Cutzey, of Charleroi in the opening bout. Young Carmen, Charleroi's best featherweight, will meet Jimmy McCoy of Pittsburgh in the semi-final, and Joe Larue of Charleroi, the champion of the Fifteenth Engineers, will meet Kid Levo of New Kensington, in the main bout. Levo has defeated some of the best boys in the lightweight class and will be the toughest proposition to face.

All soldiers, sailors and marines in uniform will be admitted free. The show is open to ladies as well as gentlemen, and quite a number of men have already engaged seats for themselves and wives. This will be the first opportunity that women in the Monongahela valley have had to see a real boxing show, so the management is making preparations to take care of them. The gates will be open at 4 p. m., and the show will begin at 5 o'clock.

Coroner Heffran will hold an inquest Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, at the F. and M. Bank, Bentleyville, to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of Robert Allman at Bentleyville on Sunday evening last.

Mrs. Herrington was arrested by Constable Lynch and after a preliminary examination before Squire C. E. Eckles, was locked up. She was given a hearing before Squire Eckles at 11 Saturday morning and committed to the county jail at Washington without bail to await the outcome of her husband's injuries. She was taken to Washington by Constable Lynch.

Sequel to Capo Murder? The shooting occurred on the second anniversary of the murder of Angelo Capo, a young Italian barber, who was found dead in bed with a noose about his neck at his home, a stone's throw from the home of the

All union barber shops will be open until 9:30 Wednesday evening and will be closed all day Thursday, August 21st.

Charleroi Telephone Company Purchases Independent Lines

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Charleroi Telephone company, held in the public meeting room of the municipal building, Monday evening, they voted to purchase the assets of the Independent Telephone Construction Company.

This latter company has been in bankruptcy for several months, and it is said to be the purpose of the purchasers of the assets to repair the lines and equipment of the Construction company, after which local service will be restored in Belle Vernon and Bentleyville. The Construction company also owned a trunk line to Washington, but whether service will be restored over this wire is a matter for future consideration.

The Charleroi company by this purchase will have plants in Belle Vernon and Bentleyville, both of which have been out of service for a number of months. With their restoration to active service the local company will be able to increase its sphere of activity, the stockholders being of the opinion that it is a good investment.

The meeting held last evening was quite interesting, and a number of proxies were voted, each side holding quite a number. As soon as the purchase money is paid over and the sale confirmed by the United States Court the Charleroi company will take possession of the new purchase.

WOMEN TO SEE BOXING SHOW

The Charleroi Boxing Club has made two changes in their program for the big boxing show to be held in the ball park the afternoon of the soldiers' and sailors' official reception day, Thursday, August 21, which makes the card look like an all-star show.

Tommy Perry of Charleston, W. Va., the KO artist who has been setting the boxing world on fire by his great work in Pittsburgh this season will meet Mickey Dillon of Charleroi in the second bout.

Owen McManus, former amateur champion of Pittsburgh, will meet whom he fought with. The record of Private Harry Welsh, of Company F, 38th Infantry, who died while in service, on the 5th of December, 1918, in France, General John J. Pershing has sent to Mrs. Margaret Welsh of McKean avenue a memorial card.

The memorial reads: "In memory of Private Harry Lawrence Welsh, Co. F, 38th Infantry, who died Dec. 5th, 1918. He bravely laid down his life for the cause of his country. His name will ever remain fresh in the hearts of his friends and comrades, whom he fought with. The record of his memory and honorable service will be preserved in the archives of the American Expeditionary Forces. John J. Pershing, Commander-in-Chief."

So far six bands have been secured for the day, and prospects are that additional musical organizations will be on hand to take part. From present indications the parade will be one of the largest affairs of the kind Charleroi has ever witnessed.

PERSHING LAUDS A CHARLEROI HERO

In memory of the valor of Private Harry Welsh, of Company F, 38th Infantry, who died while in service, on the 5th of December, 1918, in France, General John J. Pershing has sent to Mrs. Margaret Welsh of McKean avenue a memorial card.

The memorial reads: "In memory of Private Harry Lawrence Welsh, Co. F, 38th Infantry, who died Dec. 5th, 1918. He bravely laid down his life for the cause of his country. His name will ever remain fresh in the hearts of his friends and comrades, whom he fought with. The record of his memory and honorable service will be preserved in the archives of the American Expeditionary Forces. John J. Pershing, Commander-in-Chief."

MANY ORDERS WILL PARADE THURSDAY

J. B. Tussing, chairman of the parade committee, reports that he has received favorable replies from thirty-eight fraternal organizations and the clubs which have signified their intention of taking part in the parade on Thursday. At the final meeting of the parade committee, to be held at 8 o'clock this evening, in the borough building, he expects to have other favorable replies from a number of organizations which have delayed sending in word.

So far six bands have been secured for the day, and prospects are that additional musical organizations will be on hand to take part. From present indications the parade will be one of the largest affairs of the kind Charleroi has ever witnessed.

NEW NATIONAL BANK TO OPEN IN MONESSEN

Approval has been given by the Comptroller of Currency on the application for a charter for the Citizens Bank of Monessen, made by a committee of well known business men of that town. The new bank will have quarters in the building now occupied by the Monessen hotel at the corner of Fifth street and Donner avenue, this property having been purchased from Adam Wyant and others of Greensburg. The building will be completely remodeled and fitted up for a modern banking institution.

Allenport man pleads guilty And Is Sentenced By Court

JUDGE REFUSED TO PAROLE HIM

In criminal court at Washington on Monday, upon a plea of involuntary manslaughter, Alexander Blatchford, a young married man of Allenport, was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $1 and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for one year.

The trouble in which Blatchford was concerned occurred on the first day of last April, when the miners were celebrating the anniversary of the 8-hour day. The affair which resulted in the death of Thomas Myrtle had its inception in the cafe of the Hotel Waldorf, where Myrtle, it is alleged, was acting in a quarrelsome manner. On coming out of the bar Blatchford reproved Myrtle for his conduct, which the latter resented and it is alleged, struck at Blatchford. The later retaliated, knocking Myrtle down. In falling he struck his head on the pavement, which resulted in a fractured skull.

Myrtle was first taken to the local police station and later removed to the Charleroi-Monessen hospital where he died the next day.

Since the tragedy Blatchford has endeavored to compensate the widow of Myrtle for any expense incident to the death and burial of her husband. She has so far refused to receive anything from him, and insisted that he be severely punished.

Blatchford has borne a good reputation. The court remarked that it had knowledge that Blatchford was drinking some that day and when Myrtle showed fight that Blatchford accepted the challenge. Under all the facts the court said Blatchford was not altogether blameless.

His counsel suggested a parole but that question the court stated would be considered later.

TRAGEDY ENDS A CAMPING PARTY

Funeral services were held this afternoon for Charles Huseman, aged 21 years, from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huseman, at California. Young Huseman died from a bullet wound from his own revolver, accidentally discharged on Saturday night last, while on his way from Masontown to a camp at McCann's Ferry on the Monongahela river.

Huseman had gone to spend the week-end with a party of campers from California. Saturday afternoon they had borrowed a skiff from a party in Masontown, and in the evening Huseman took it home. Because it was necessary to make the return trip at night he took his revolver and started for Masontown. On the return trip he slipped and fell, which accidentally discharged the revolver, the bullet striking him in the right side and penetrating his heart. The body was taken to Carmichaels Saturday night, and from there removed to his late home on Monday. The campers returned to California Sunday owing to the tragedy which marred their vacation.

TRUCK LICENSE DOESN'T GO ON TOURING CAR

The fact that a touring car cannot be operated on a truck license is not known to some parties. Mike Berich, of Donora, learned Saturday that the legislature had made the offense rather serious. He entered a plea of guilty on Saturday to a charge of violating the automobile laws in operating a touring car with a truck license. The court gave him the minimum sentence of $100 fine and costs.

Civic League Meeting. A meeting of the Charleroi Civic League will be held Wednesday evening, August 20, at 8 o'clock sharp, in the banquet room of the Masonic building. As business of importance is to be considered a full attendance of members is desired.

TRUCK IS STOLEN WHILE IN PITTSBURGH

C. T. Elliott, of the Belle Vernon Mercantile company, drove his truck to Pittsburgh last Thursday, with the intention of securing a load of goods for his store. Entering a wholesale house to purchase articles he left the machine standing on the street, but on returning found that while he was absent some unknown person had driven off with his truck. No trace of the missing machine has been found.

THE LEAGUE AND LIVING.

It is regrettable that President Wilson could not, or at least that he did not find himself in a frame of mind to address Congress upon the food situation, without lugging in a plea for the League of Nations. There is only a remote connection, if any connection at all, between the League of Nations and the high cost of living in America.

By Mr. Wilson's own showing there is a large surplus of foodstuffs in this country, and there are laws already on the statute books which in large part will prevent profiteering. Unless we are to permit signatories of the League to come in and assist us in regulating our internal affairs, what possible aid would the adoption of these covenants be in the fixing of prices in the States?

President Wilson may not realize it—Presidents in the nature of things cannot touch elbows with the crowd—but men of far less intellectual capacity than his own know the American people just now are not worrying half as much over the prices of permanent world peace as they are over the price of shoes and bacon.

The League of Nations is to them very much of an abstraction; the demands of the stomach a very real and an ever present cry that will not be hushed.

We are reluctant to accuse the President of threatening Congress, but when he says we are now neither at peace nor at war, and announces, in effect, that the law of supply and demand will be held largely in suspension until the treaty of peace is ratified it sounds very much like a notice to the senate that it must ratify or assume the onus of increased prices.

Again he is unfortunate, we think, in one of his similes. "The world," he says, "is on the operating table and it has not been possible to administer an anesthetic." Fortunately this is true. Not a few politicians would like, no doubt, to give a sleeping potion to the people while they work their will, but the patient is very much awake, not only in a physical sense, but awake to the issue that is of nearest consequence to himself.

"There can be no peace prices so long as our whole financial and economic system is on a war basis," is an excerpt from the address to Congress. We should like an explanation of what this means. As a matter of fact the financial and economic system of this country is not on a war basis and has not been for months, although the profiteers in necessities of life have tried to give that impression and the language of the president strengthens their hand.

This country is rich in surplus food products, and if they cannot be brought to the people at a reasonable price now they never can be. The law is plain. All that is necessary is to invoke it. As to the President's proposed interstate licensing system, Senator Reed's comment is as convincing as it is epigrammatic. I am opposed," says the Senator, "to putting the business of the country in leading strings to be manipulated by a lot of jacks in Washington."

The address is encouraging principally for the reason that it shows the President recognizes a grave situation and realizes that something must be done.—New York Telegraph.

The plan to take twenty billions of the people's money, buy the railroads with them, and turn the roads over to those on the payroll of these lines to operate them, calls for a division of the "profits" between the government and the employees. Under government operation of the railroads, with very increased passenger and freight rates, are operating at a loss. Who will divide the losses?

DeLloyd Thompson and his firing machine certainly will be one great attraction for Charleroi at the homecoming celebration. Thompson is a fiver of more than ordinary ability and will give the people something worth looking at.

J. Pluvius wants to be on his good behavior on Thursday, and give us one of the best days of the season. We want to put our best foot forward.

ASK ONLY FOR FAIR CHANCE

Crippled Soldiers Are Eager to Prove
They Have Lost None of Their Good American Grit.

A West Virginia private soldier who lost a leg in the war and now goes on crutches was visiting the national capital, and while inspecting the Washington monument requested a policeman to get as a witness for a short time. The cripple then proceeded to climb to the top, 500 feet above the ground and reached by 500 steps. It is clear that this athlete was not in Washington to claim a pension on the ground of physical disability. In fact, he asks no more than a fair chance to show that he is fit to hold a job, and is ready to prove it. In the main military hospital in Washington the patients are publishing a paper called the "Come Back," whose main purpose is to promote the industrial welfare of crippled soldiers and sailors. It gathers information on useful work for men who recover from amputations or serious wounds, and wants to ascertain how much they will be able to do, not how little, and to encourage ambitious efforts as far as possible. Such endeavors, for one thing, add to the happiness of those who often are merely classed as unfortunates. A crippled condition does not necessarily mean a crippled life. The privilege of being independent that appealed to Burns as glorious is dear to every healthful nature and earnest participant in the duties of life.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

MAY AGAIN BECOME NATION

Possibility That Arab Tribes Will Be Reunited as One Result of the Great War.

One of the most interesting figures at the opening of the peace conference was Prince Emir Faisal, son of the king of the Hedjaz, the latter known as "the grand old man of the East." He is very handsome and his picturesque headgear was well suited to his style. As the prince strode up and down the room before the opening of the session he was a perfect type of Arab beauty and dignity. The representation of his fine race in the peace conference and their present effort to establish their ancient kingdom recall the general opinion which, I believe, is held among orientalists that the Arabs are destined ultimately to play a big part in the world. I have seen them in the districts around the Suez canal and the Red sea and have wondered whether they would not again become a great people. Individually, it seemed to me that they were finer than any other orientals. As a wandering race they have lacked the co-operation and cohesion which enable a nation to make headway. It would be one of the historic romances if out of the world war the Arabs emerged as an organized people prepared to assume heavy responsibilities in the near East.—New York Times.

Grain for Alcohol.

Obviously nation-wide prohibition will cut sharply into the use of the cereals in the manufacture of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes. At the same time it is regarded as assured that more alcohol will be manufactured than ever before for use in the liberal arts and in manufactures generally. This to be denatured and thus absolutely unfit for drinking purposes. Plans are under way, however, for greatly increased output of alcohol as above noted, some of this undoubtedly to be made from grain, while large quantities it now appears will be produced from cheap molasses brought from the West Indies. Official chemists have been able to secure from this not only alcohol but also the use of residue for the production of glycerin, something of increasingly large consumption. Glycerin is very largely used in making nitroglycerin, transparent soaps, lubricants, printers' inks, etc.

Death Brings Joy.

The reports from many parts of the United States that some women of an adventurous nature married soldiers in the high hopes that the husbands would be killed and that they would collect the insurance money are based on fact, it is believed.

A young woman, well dressed, went to the post office at Vancouver, Wash., recently and received a letter. She opened, read, and laughed loudly. A man driving a machine in which she rode downtown asked her what was the good news. She astonished him by replying that her husband had been killed and she would get the $10,000 insurance.

Origin of Famous Dyes.

The famous blue and purple dyes of the east, frequently mentioned in history, were in all probability extracted from the Rocella lichen, which has been extensively used in France in recent years when gorgeous colors were desired for silks. These dyes are secured by pulverizing the plant body, termed the thallus, and extracting the coloring matter by applying alkali. Litmus, one of the lichen dyes, is widely applied in the science of chemistry.—Textile World Journal.

Production of Quicksilver in 1918.

The domestic output of quicksilver in 1918, according to statistics compiled by F. L. Ransome, of the United States geological survey, department of the interior, was 33,432 flasks of 75 pounds each, valued at about $3,942,301. Compared with the output of 1917 this shows a decrease in quantity.

SHOOTING SCRAPE

Herringtons.

The mystery of that murder was never solved.

When arrested Mrs. Herrington had a badly discolored left eye, damaged in the trouble which led to the shooting, and was in a highly nervous condition. She talked a great deal and among other things said:

"I can lay my hands on the man who killed Angelo."

When questioned by Squire Eckles at the hearing as to what she knew of the killing of the barber she denied that she knew who had killed him, but she "had a pretty good idea of who killed him."

All she knew, she said, was what she had been told and her observations had confirmed her opinion.

"I know a lot," she said, "but I am not going to tell," when the Squire asked her what she knew of Capo's death.

"Were you the first person to see Capo?" he asked.

"No. Tom Webster was first."

"You called me and told me of the murder?"

"Yes. Tom Webster told me and I called you over the telephone."

The body of Capo was found by Tom Webster, his journeyman barber when Webster went to work the morning of August 15, 1917. The shop in the Engle hotel building showed evidence of having been burglarized and Webster went to Capo's house to tell him. He found Capo dead in bed with a hangman's knot.

The opinion was current at the time that a woman was at the bottom of the matter but the authorities were unable to secure conclusive evidence.

"Where did you get that revolver?" asked the Squire.

"I bought it at the time Angelo was shot for my own protection," she replied.

O. C. McClintic's testimony before Squire Eckles was to the effect that he was in the house when Isaac came home from work. When the first shot was fired upstairs, he went to the foot of the stairs. Mrs. Herrington was at the top with the revolver threatening to shoot anyone who came up. He then left the house. Afterwards two shots were fired and as he was returning, he found Mrs. Herrington sitting by a telephone pole the revolver by her side. She said that she had shot Ike. He took the revolver from her.

Herrington, whose father lives in Charleroi, was taken from the Brownsville hospital Saturday afternoon and it was reported he had been brought to the local institution, but the report was not true.

SEND THEM AWAY.

Of twenty-six men arrested in Cleveland the other day for alleged un-American activities, one was found to be a citizen of the United States. The other 25 were aliens, strangers in a new land; uninvited guests of the country, here by sufferance; profiteers in American good will. These 26 men were arrested because they advocated the overturn of the American government. Having come here without invitation, they do not believe the country properly governed. The soviet idea is their idea—autocratic dictation by a self-appointed minority. America's heart is large and her expanse of territory great. But there is no room here for men of this kind. Their love for sovietism is cue enough as to where they should be sent.

Records of the Monessen police department show that every day last week there were drunks before the Burgess for trial. The men are said to have gotten the whisky and some wild-eyed hard cider in that town, which would indicate that the big town over the river is not as "dry" as some people would have you believe. Here in Charleroi we get our liquor "out the creek" whatever that means. From a casual observance it appears that those who want a "nip" are able to get it.

ATTENTION, FIREMEN.

All members of the Charleroi Fire Department are requested to report at Firemen's room, Municipal Building, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, in parade uniform to take part in the parade. Members not having parade uniforms can secure same at that time.

MONESSEN SCHOOLS TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 8th

The fall sessions of the Monessen schools will open September 8, or one week later than the Charleroi schools. It is expected that at least 4,500 pupils will attend the schools during the term. The teaching force will consist of 120 teachers.

MORE TEACHERS ARE NEEDED IN COUNTY

An unlooked for dearth of teachers is apparent in Washington county at the present time. So far Superintendent Crumrine has records of twenty-two teachers who will be needed in various districts, practically all of which are in country schools.

Is it a Real One?
Here is quite an easy way to tell whether a diamond is a genuine one or not. Make a small dot on a piece of paper with a lead pencil and look at it through the diamond. If it shows only a single dot it is a genuine stone, but if it shows more than one dot you've been "had."

Marion Coming On.
Living on a farm, the children hear their fathers talk of the different crops. Our little neighbor was over to visit my 1-year-old daughter, who has never had much hair. Returning home, she said to her mother: "Marion is certainly getting a fine crop of hair now."—Chicago Tribune.

Couldn't Risk It.
A good story is told of General Glascock of Georgia. When the latter was, 70 years ago, elected a representative, a friend asked: "General, may I introduce you to Henry Clay?" "No, sir," was the prompt response; "I am his adversary, and choose not to subject myself to his fascination."

UNITED STATES GOT BARGAIN

Purchase of Florida From Spain for $6,000,000 Was Decidedly Good Stroke of Business.

More than $8,000,000 was paid by the United States to Spain one hundred years ago for Florida.

In 1819, on the anniversary of the birth of the nation's first president, there was concluded between John Quincy Adams, then secretary of state, and Luis De Onís, minister plenipotentiary of the king of Spain, an agreement and treaty whereby the United States became owner of what were then known as the provinces of East and West Florida.

This territory included not only all of the present state of Florida, but part of what is now Georgia and Alabama, and it was bought for $5,000,000 and the settlement of some claims which amounted to $1,024,741.44, a total of $6,024,741.44.

The language of the remarkable document between the two nations is clear and precise and differs from other treaties to a marked extent. The two men who drew it up were past masters in statesmanship, politics and diplomacy; also, each was the most advanced thinker of the country he represented.

Spain wanted to get rid of her American possessions before they were taken away from her. She was proud, but recognized the fact that she was in no position to wage a long and possibly unsuccessful warfare to hold her colonies.

America wanted the land in this continent held by Spain, but was willing to acquire it by purchase rather than conquest, and with both sides ably represented by the best talent, it was not long before a satisfactory conclusion was reached.

WILL MODEL ALLIED LEADERS

American Sculptor in France Has Been Given the Task of Putting History into Clay.

Joe Davidson, the American sculptor, now in France, is engaged on a most interesting commission, according to the Manchester Guardian. He is modeling a series of bronze busts of the chief allied military and political leaders. Many have already sat for him, and many, including Haig and Lloyd George, have yet to give sittings. One of the sculptor's recent successes was a bust of Marshal Foch, done in clay, from which the bronze work will be completed. Only two periods of time, totaling five hours, were available for Davidson.

But that proved sufficient. Half way through, the marshal inspected what had been done and smilingly remarked: "Sculpture is not so difficult after all." He also recalled with some pride that Gustave Dore's illustrations to Poe's works were made in his (Foch's) house. He was only a captain then. The sculptor's description of his sitter is interesting: Foch's broad, high forehead indicates a man of philosophy rather than purely military type, but the deep set, piercing eyes and strong though nowise brutal mouth, nose and chin show that the thinker is equally a man of action and decision. From the point of view of physiognomy, a subject of absorbing interest.

Famous Old Tavern Closed.
The rising tide of prohibition has swept away another ancient hostelry, the Blue Anchor, at Front and Dock streets, Philadelphia, claimed to be the oldest tavern in Pennsylvania, and one of the two or three oldest in America.

The Blue Anchor is one of the landmarks of the city. Its walls bear the inscription that the inn was founded in 1682, shortly after the landing of William Penn, when Dock street was Dock creek. As a tavern and bar the building on this site has been operated continuously for 227 years.

Chroniclers of Dock street say that the original building was burned in the later years of the eighteenth century, and that the present building dates from about 1789. The inn was long known for its fish dinners.

Heroic Preacher.
In a little cave on a hillside, also under shell fire, a war correspondent found a preacher secretary tending his little group of wounded. The men had fallen too fast that day for the ambulances to carry them all, and so he had picked up a dozen of them, one by one, and carried them back across the shell holes to his little cave in the hill, where he thought they would be safe. All night long, while the guns roared, he made his lonesome journeys out, bringing in new wounded and carrying water to those who cried out for it.—Red Cross Magazine.

Crops Worth Billions.
The cereal crops of the United States were worth over $7,000,000,000 to the farmers who raised them in 1918. The product of these crops, all together, was a little under the total for 1917, but, while the prices of some of the cereals were lower in 1918 than in 1917, the prices of others were sufficiently higher to make the total value of the cereals greater in 1918 by more than a quarter of a billion dollars.

Bubonic Plague in Argentina.
A report from Buenos Aires states that the government of that country is sending a commission to the province of Jujuy for the purpose of fighting the epidemic of bubonic plague, which is reported to be serious. The Santiago dispensary reports 605 cases of typhus fever and 13 deaths.
